

Announcement of 4th International Conference on Oral Health and Dental Medicine

Oral hygiene is the practice of keeping one's mouth clean and free of disease and other problems (e.g. bad breath) by regular brushing of the teeth (dental hygiene) and cleaning between the teeth. It is important that oral hygiene be carried out on a regular basis to enable prevention of dental disease and bad breath. The most common types of dental disease are tooth decay (cavities, dental caries) and gum diseases, including gingivitis, and periodontitis. Oral and Maxillofacial Pathology involves investigating the oral growths, injuries in the mouth and to identify the sicknesses of the mouth, jaws and related structures like salivary organ, temporomandibular joints, facial muscles, and perioral skin. Dental X-rays gives some non-invasive and painless methods for identifying cavities in teeth

Conference series organises leading international conferences and webinars and is instrumental in bringing together experts and beginners for cooperative and effective research-oriented discussions. The goal of Conference series conferences is to bring together scientists at every level from different disciplines to understand and discuss during programmed topic sessions and informal gatherings. Conference series conferences will showcase innovative, cutting-edge research on the fundamental roles in addressing the challenges and translational research from academia to industry. All these opportunities will support professional growth of younger scientists that will promote future collaborations and enhance participation and contribution to their exciting research work. Exciting oral sessions and poster sessions will reflect broad diversity of research and will include topics driving innovative efforts and provides maximal opportunity for scientific exchange respectively. Besides invited speakers, many speaker slots are chosen from submitted abstracts to ensure good representation of those who are new to the field, young investigators, and recent results. Contact us and we'll connect you with the right subject expert from our vast network of experienced operation professionals worldwide.

Conference series conferences also, encourage bright minds with special awards and certifications which are categorized to best speaker talks, best abstract, best poster award, outstanding young researcher award and the house of delegate awards. Fetal and Maternal Medicine scientific committee is responsible for recommending individuals for awards for consideration and approval. Winners of the awards will be considered to have presented an original scientific or technical study investigating a novel application or an innovative research approach, of a standard suitable for publication at an international level.

We encourage you to have a look on our official website and submit your speech abstract as the earliest, so that we can reserve your slot.
